

Your time is valuable. Don't spend it preparing data.

As insurers are constantly being asked to do more with diminishing resources, it's important to make sure your staff's time and energy are directed towards growth-oriented initiatives. This means re-evaluating internal operations to reallocate resources to fully capitalize on your unique strengths and eliminate non-revenue generating processes.

Carriers continue to find that bureau reporting is one of the most logical tasks to outsource. A non-strategic, time-consuming, and labor-intensive process prone to errors and fines, statistical reporting ties up many carriers' operational, technical, and management resources—resulting in lost business opportunities.

Regain clarity. Reclaim lost opportunities.

Insurers do not need to develop internal efficiencies in bureau reporting, as it is not part of their core business and is an activity that does not generate any revenue.

Improve operational efficiencies and refocus your resources on profitable initiatives, such as improving your company's customer experience, attracting higher volume producers, launching new products, improving analytics, and expanding to new states. Don't spend valuable resources developing internal efficiencies in non-strategic business processes.

“We chose to outsource our bureau reporting so we could gain efficiencies that we did not need to develop internally. IDP was our choice because we felt their expertise exceeded other vendors we researched.”

SVP & Chief Actuary of a major insurance company

More

Benefits to Outsourcing Statistical Reporting

- Increase overall efficiencies by capitalizing on our capabilities and unique insights gained from preparing and submitting data for over 65 years. No single carrier can develop comparable operations in house.
- Eliminate fines for missing deadlines and submitting erroneous data. Benefit from our reporting expertise developed from preparing data for carriers of all sizes.
- Focus on profitable engagements instead of monitoring circulars for reporting requirement changes and handling lengthy calls and error correction processes with statistical bureaus. Redirect your resources to growth-oriented initiatives.

Find the right experts.

For over six decades, IDP has reported statistical data for many insurance carriers—that's hundreds of millions of data elements formatted correctly and submitted on time. Our blend of insurance and IT expertise, practical knowledge of policy administration systems, and strong bureau relationships provide you with a valuable, cost-effective solution.

We report all personal and commercial lines written in all 50 states and Puerto Rico to the major rating bureaus and statistical agents, including ISO, NISS, ISS, MSO, SFAA, TICO, CAR, NCCI, AAIS, AIPSO, and URB. Our dedicated team of bureau analysts accept data in any format, and efficiently handle format changes, QA, edits, and submissions.

IDP

8101 Washington Lane, Wyncote, PA 19095
Phone: (215) 885-2150 ■ Toll Free: (800) 523-6745
www.idpnet-brs.com

Save time and money by capitalizing on our streamlined reporting services developed from 65+ years of insights and experience serving carriers.

Your company is not in the business of reporting data. We are.

About IDP

IDP (Insurance Data Partners, Inc.) is a leading technology services provider that has exclusively served the P&C community since 1949. We have leveraged our extensive industry knowledge and technical expertise, along with decades of rich customer insights to develop intuitive, agile, and affordable solutions. As a strategic business partner to the P&C community, IDP delivers robust SaaS solutions and comprehensive bureau reporting services for insurers, program administrators, and residual market plans. Our unparalleled technology and expertise are matched only by our unwavering commitment to each and every client's success.